

Maja Jadrešin, PhD is a postdoctoral researcher at the Department of Information Sciences of the University of Zadar. According to her basic education, she is a lawyer (she completed her graduate studies in law at the Faculty of Law in Split, University of Split) and a professor of sociology and philosophy (she completed her graduate studies at the Faculty of Philosophy in Zadar).

She completed the post-graduate master study "Culture and Society" at the University of Zadar and successfully defended her master's thesis entitled Group Identity as a Determinant of Organization and thereby obtained the scientific title of Master of Science in Sociology.

She completed the post-graduate doctoral study "Knowledge Society and Information Transfer" at the University of Zadar and successfully defended her doctoral thesis entitled "Higher Education Publishing: Ethical Dimensions of Copyright" and thereby obtained the title of Doctor of Science in the field of information and communication sciences.

She is involved in teaching at the undergraduate and graduate level of the Department of Information Sciences.

Her research and teaching interests are focused on the field of copyright in the system of higher education institutions, information ethics and academic integrity.